Let's get vocal for local.

We are in the epicentre of a life, like we never imagined. It's now more important than ever to come together, a 'SWADESHI' movement of sorts, all over again. Our Crafts, weaves and art, that is a representation of our culture, heritage and unique craftsmanship; needs our support, however big or small.

CCTN, takes a step towards the same, by bringing to you a virtual shopping experience. You get to see the familiar faces and creations that adorned our Crafts Bazaar, year after year, now on your screen. We are showcasing the products that is lying with them due to their inability to travel, or participate in bazaars.

A smile on their face and a help for them to get through these tough times, is just a call away.

Vanakkam.

Meet your craftsman
Kandasamy

Using stones from nearby quarries, Kandasamy from Namakkal district sculpts these everyday cooking utensils.

He sketches the design by hand and starts chipping away with a chisel and hammer. He makes about two Kuzhi paniyaram stones in a day. These utensils can be placed directly on a gas flame and with little oil, they work as good as most non-stick utensils.
